Peace Pace Said 'OK'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The White House said today it is satisfied with the pace of discussions with South Vietnam and with the over-all negotiations to conclude a Vietnam settlement.

The statement by White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler came amid indications that presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger was preparing to fly to Paris to meet again with North Vietnamese negotiator Le Duc Tho, already heading for the French capital from Hanoi.

Ziegler said again the United States had asked for another meeting between Kissinger and the Hanoi Politburo member. But he refused to say specifically whether such a secret session had been arranged.

"I'm going to tell you when there is a meeting between Dr. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho," Ziegler said.

In response to questions on Gen. Alexander M. Haig's just completed mission to Saigon, Ziegler said: "We're satisfied with the pace of discussions ... with the South Vietnamese." He also said, "We're also satisfied with the pace of over-all negotiations."

Both Kissinger and Haig were at the White House this morning, Ziegler said.

Tho stopped over in Peking to confer with Premier Chou En-lai, the Chinese official news agency Hsinhua reported. There was no hint as to how long Tho would stay in Peking.

Tho also is expected to stop in Moscow for discussions with Soviet leaders before flying to Paris.

U.S. spokesmen said they could neither confirm nor deny that the private talks to end the war were about to resume as was widely anticipated.

South Vietnam, meanwhile, announced today it would agree to withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from the South by stages instead of the total withdrawal at once that it had demanded earlier.

The Radio Hanoi broadcast today said North Vietnam, "to show its good will and seriousness," had agreed to "another private meeting between the United States and the Democratic Republic of Vietnam to solve the signing of the agreement on ending the war and restoring peace in Vietnam."

It said the meeting was proposed by "the U.S. side."

Kissinger and Haig conferred with Nixon for one and one-half hours at the President's Camp David retreat Monday following Haig's return from four days of talks with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu in Saigon.

Both men next went by helicopter to Andrews AFB, which is a frequent departure point for official missions abroad.

There was no announcement on the details of the Camp David discussions, but U.S. officials in Saigon said Haig, who is Kissinger's top aide, had narrowed the differences in his talks with Thieu on the American and South Vietnamese positions on a cease-fire.

Haig carried a personal note to Nixon from Thieu, but its contents were not disclosed.

Handicapped Needs Explored At Session

A sparsely attended public hearing on the problems of Pettis County's Developmental Disabilities program explored services available to and needs of the handicapped Monday night at the Children's Therapy Center. Conducting the hearing were George Marsh and Mrs. Mary Kay Hunter.

Both Marsh and Mrs. Hunter are members of the 27-member Region M of Missouri's developmental disabilities regions. Other counties in the region M are: Morgan, Moniteau, Boone, Howard, Carroll, Chariton, Saline and Cooper.

Monday night's hearing was an effort to learn first hand what services for the handicapped are needed most in Pettis County. The information assembled by Marsh and Mrs. Hunter will be pooled with information gathered in the other counties of the region which will be relayed to the Governor's Advisory Council on Mental Retardation and Other Developmental Disabilities. The Governor's Advisory Council will consider the priorities established by the state's 11 regional councils and funds to aid the handicapped will be given to each region according to its needs.

One area of concern for participants of the hearing was transportation. Due to financial burdens and a lack of time, many participants expressed concern people outside of Sedalia were not able to transport relatives to training facilities in Sedalia.

Discussion centered for a moment on mentally retarded children and Marsh stressed the need to reach the retarded because, he said, "retarded children are not going to be in institutions, they're going to be in the community." He later said emphasis is needed in the area of pre-school and adult services. Asked if the Therapy Center would broaden its scope to attempt to meet these needs, Marsh said the center is making an effort. "There are two and three year-olds in classes now," Marsh said.

Juanita Crystal, recording secretary of the Mid-Missouri Association for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, suggested more attention be given to physical therapy facilities.

Jim Cunningham, public relations chairman for the Mid-Missouri Association for the Blind and Physically Handicapped, drew attention to the light turn-out, suggesting "lack of motivation" was a major reason. Mrs. Crystal asserted there exists a need to educate the public as to the services available for the handicapped.

The Developmental Disabilities Act signed into law in 1970 was the catalyst for the establishment of the Governor's Advisory Council and the 11 regional councils, it was reported. The federally-funded program provides an opportunity to bring full service to the mentally retarded and persons with neurological disorders.

Pettis County members of region M are: Marsh, Mrs. Hunter, Roger Garlich, Dr. Robert Edmonds and Mrs. Greg Connor.

Encounter Problems At KCI

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The new Kansas City International Airport is operational but with all work on the terminals still not completed, incoming travelers are not finding it completely functional.

One of the biggest problems is the lack of signs directing passengers to transportation downtown. Many telephones for limousine and taxi service are yet to be installed and limousine service booths are not yet open.

Five buses and five limousines make 49 scheduled trips each day from KCI to downtown, but passengers can board buses only if they find the right bus stops.

The limousine-express bus service—KCI Airport Express—is offered by the Yellow Cab Co. under contract to the Area Transportation Authority and the city.

C. Melton Wallace, vice president and manager of Yellow Cab, said Monday the company is working to solve the ground transportation problems.

Wallace said a dispatcher-supervisor was on duty 24 hours a day and three KCI express hostesses, one for each terminal, are on duty during scheduled service hours. He said the hostesses are supposed to meet all incoming flights and direct travelers to buses.

However, the director of the KCI service for Yellow Cab, Robert Slifer, said not all flights are met and the hostesses do not yet have their uniforms. He said the hostesses are hard to pick out in their street clothes and they are not yet familiar with all schedules.

Wallace said some 25,000 schedules have been printed and distributed to airlines and hotels, but he noted it will probably take some time for all personnel to become acquainted with them.

Meanwhile, passengers are given the general direction of ground transportation booth signs in the terminal, but with one exception the booths are locked and unfinished. There are no phones for the on-call limousine service—operating from midnight to 6 a.m.—and there are no cab company phones.

Eventually, Wallace said, phones connected to the limousine dispatcher in Terminal C will be located at each of the nine booths along with schedules and instructions on where to board buses or limousines.

But for the time being, the three booths in each terminal are empty and unmarked. When they are finished, they will be staffed by the hostesses.

For SFCC Expansion

Study Possibilities

In what was termed an "iffy situation," State Fair Community College President Fred Davis and board chairman William Hopkins announced Monday night that the college could initiate a $4 million capital improvements program to establish a permanent campus without necessitating a tax levy increase for college district residents.

According to Hopkins, two big "ifs" remain. The first concerns the allowed use of the late Elizabeth Yeater's bequest. "The manner in which the funds may be used will be interpreted by the executor of the estate (her grandson), John Pelham," said Hopkins. But the money could hopefully be deposited in an interest-drawing capital trust fund, Davis said.

Hopkins said the total the college stands to receive from the estate now is "approximately $2 million, possibly more." Mrs. Yeater's will calls for a "lasting memorial to be built and named for her late husband," Charles E. Yeater, a former vice-governor of the Philippines.

Hopkins said the first step in the building program would be the acquisition of the adjoining 113 acres immediately west of the present campus for expansion room. The college has just ended the fourth year of a five-year option on the property.

The second possible source of revenue in a $4 million project would be funding of an already-enacted piece of legislation, the Higher Education Facilities Act. Davis said part of this legislation allows for an "interest subsidy, wherein the federal government picks up the tab for all bond issue interest payments over three per cent."

President Nixon recently vetoed an appropriation to fund this project, according to Davis.

The two men said that between the interest of the Yeater estate and an interest subsidy, should it be obtainable, the principal and interest on a $4 million building program could be paid off without raising the tax levy.

According to a preliminary study by the George K. Baum Bonding Co., Kansas City, local property taxes would have to be raised 14 cents per $100 assessed valuation to finance such a building bond issue if the two proposals don't materialize, Hopkins said.

Hopkins told the board of trustees Monday night, "We were slowed in getting full accreditation from the North Central Accreditation Association by a lack of a building program for a permanent campus. If these things can be worked out, they can see where we're going and we can hope for a full accreditation."

The college now is in the fourth year of a mandatory five-year growth period as a corresponding member of the association.

'Sharing' Priority Reached

In an informal business session Monday evening at City Hall, Mayor Jerry Jones and six members of the City Council set up their list of priorities for spending the first federal revenue sharing check, expected shortly after Dec. 1.

The first check, for approximately $207,000, will be used to balance the current budget, pay for new equipment and improve some of the city's storm sewers along with several other projects. The appropriations are roughly as follows:

Culverts for sidewalks near junior high school, $1,800; new bulldozer, $29,000; installation of wheelchair ramps along Ohio, $1,000; police, fire and poundmaster radios, $3,900; snow plow and salt spreader, $2,000;

Bring fireman's retirement fund into actuarial soundness, $10,000; general park improvements, $25,000; twice-a-week sanitation pick-ups, $25,000; improved East Broadway underpass drainage, $20,000; additional help in the Street and Alley Department, $6,000, and to balance the current budget, $35,000.

The $10,000 figure for the firemen's retirement fund would be used to assure actuarial soundness of that account. An earlier inspection of the fund revealed that it was in a financially unsteady position. The $10,000 allotment from the city would be used for the retirement fund on the condition the firemen also increase their contributions to the fund, according to City Clerk Ralph Dedrick.

Dedrick explained that financial support for the retirement fund had always required contributions from both the city and firemen.

The $35,000 figure to balance the current budget reflects salary increases to all city employees effective Jan. 1. The increases were not written into the city's fiscal year budget since the fiscal year begins June 1. Salary increases were acted upon after the budget was finished.

The remainder of the first check will be used to pay off equipment and land purchases, thereby avoiding interest payments, it was reported.

The possibility of spending some of the first check on drainage box culverts at various points around the city was discarded since such work couldn't be completed until sometime in May. Funds to pay for that project will probably come from later checks.

Mayor Jones revealed that the first benefits from the federal funds should be realized in Sedalia about Dec. 15.

It was decided the council will meet with firemen at 7 p.m. Wednesday evening to begin negotiation of a new pay step program. Such negotiations are part of the overall package recently agreed to between the city and firemen.

Results Certified In College Election

The State Fair Community College board of trustees met in special session Monday night to certify the results of the Nov. 7 election of two board members and to elect their own officers for the positions of vice chairman and secretary.

John W. Ragland, Cole Camp, and Dr. Donald Proctor, Sedalia, were elected to the board for the remainder of the terms of Leonard Heisterberg, Cole Camp and Proctor, whose April election wins were invalidated by a federal court order.

The two men took the oath of office Monday night and brought the meeting to a quorum as only C. P. Leppert, Lincoln, was absent.

The official results of the board election are John Ragland, 6,315 votes; Dr. Proctor, 11,353; Leonard Heisterberg, 5,293; Otis Thomas, 5,234 and Leroy Klein, 2,869. Former board member Heisterberg carried his native Benton County by more than 500 votes over his closest rival, Ragland, but ran fourth in the five-man race in more populous Pettis County.

Heisterberg was present at Monday's meeting and received the commendation of board chairman William Hopkins, who said, "Leonard has consistently put the college's interests above his own work and has never missed a board meeting."

Dr. Proctor was elected board vice-president by acclamation after nomination by Richard Banks, and Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher, secretary. He was nominated by Ragland.

In other action, the board approved a policy resolution supporting the exemplary project currently being drawn up for federal funding. Mrs. Nila Hibdon presented the program before the board at its October meeting. The board also approved the hiring of Mrs. Foster McGuire to assist with clinical experience for nurses aide classes at Bothwell Hospital.

Fred Davis, college president, informed the board a five-man accreditation team from the North Central Association will be on campus Dec. 17-20. For the visit the board will review at their Nov. 24 meeting a board policy statement currently being drawn up. Chairman Hopkins appointed Ragland to a special committee of students, faculty and administration to prepare a philosophy paper stating for the NCAA the college's objectives and future direction.

President Davis explained that by seeking accreditation with the NCAA, the college would be more able to insure its graduates that college credits earned at SFCC would be more easily transferred to other institutions of higher learning.

Shift in Personnel Results in Charge

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Christopher S. Bond, the Republican governor-elect, has become the first to thrust partisan politics into the administration of the Missouri Highway Patrol, David Donnelly, state Democratic committee chairman charged today.

"The unfounded charge by Bond that Col. E. I. 'Mike' Hockaday has been 'too political' will be resented by every Missourian," Donnelly said. "I recognize his right to select a new superintendent but Democrats and Republicans alike are dismayed at Bond's announcement that he will replace Col. Hockaday for political reasons."

Hockaday has said he will retire in January.

"As second in command of the patrol," Donnelly said, "Col. Hockaday served for years in an administrative capacity that gained him recognition as one of the outstanding law enforcement officers in the United States."

"With the death of Col. Hugh Waggoner, it fell to Gov. Warren E. Hearnes to select a new superintendent. Gov. Hearnes wisely selected the only man in the history of the patrol to have held every rank within the patrol. He served the patrol with distinction almost from its inception."

"Col. Hockaday, for more than 35 years, has been a symbol of all that's best in law enforcement."

"He was internationally recognized for it. He is now the first vice president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, which has more than 9,000 members in 64 countries of the world. Had he been retained as patrol superintendent, he would have been president of this prestigious organization."

"Missourians of every political persuasion will be distressed by Bond's political attack on the Missouri State Highway Patrol, which ranks as one of the best in the United States."

See Hearnes Replacing Westwood

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has been mentioned as a prospective replacement for national Democratic Chairman Jean Westwood of Salt Lake City.

But the governor said today he didn't want to comment until after the Dec. 3 caucus of Democratic governors in St. Louis.

Several Washington columnists and the Mutual Broadcasting System said Hearnes' name had been suggested along with that of former Chairman Lawrence O'Brien and others.

Jerry L. Bryan, Hearnes' press aide, said the governor had not flatly rejected the possibility, but on the other hand, has not campaigned for the post.

"We've done nothing to either encourage or discourage his selection," Bryan said.

Hearnes, who will go into private law practice in January after serving eight years as governor, opposed the selection of Mrs. Westwood, saying someone who could work more closely with leading governors and congressmen should have been selected.

Nebraska Observes 'Safety'

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The state of Nebraska, which on an average November day will record about 130 traffic accidents, aims to get through the day Wednesday without a reportable mishap on its 98,763 miles of streets and highways.

Gov. J. James Exon has designated the day as "Super Safety Day," and for several weeks, newspapers and broadcasters have joined in a publicity buildup, coupled with safe driving tips.

The accident-free day, if realized, would save some $400,000 in accident costs, statisticians report. Over the past three years, the average daily November traffic toll has been 129 accidents, 56 injuries and 1.5 deaths.

A reportable traffic accident in Nebraska is one resulting in death or injury, or in which property damage exceeds $100.

Prospects that traffic deaths in Nebraska this year will reach an all-time high prompted the Super Safety Day promotion.

Paulus Leaving His Post

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The State Director of Planning and Construction has joined the exodus of top state officers.

John D. Paulus said Monday he would resign effective Jan. 8, ending 33 years of state service.

"I hate to leave," Paulus said. "I feel my work's not completed."

Paulus, 63, recently saw one of his dreams realized, and that was to demolish the old federal building, clearing a view of the Capitol, looking down a hill from downtown Jefferson City.

Another goal was to remodel the west end of the Capitol. The legislature, in the September special session, turned down a $1 million appropriation for the work.

Paulus also had plans for a four-tiered underground parking garage for state employees.

Governor-Elect Christopher S. Bond has charged that Paulus' office was one of those showing political favoritism, and said he would replace Paulus.

"I don't plan to retire; I'm just resigning," he said. Paulus, State Director of Hospitals for the Division of Health for 10 years before he became Director of Planning and Construction in 1958, plans to remain in Jefferson City.

Partner in Criticism

The much-maligned Long Island Railroad, which through the years has been the target of criticism because of its service, seemed a little less hard to take at this point as traffic was backed up behind a lumbertruck that flipped and spilled Monday. It overturned on the way to Queens Midtown Tunnel, blocking all three inbound lanes of the Long Island Expressway. (UPI)

Margin Narrowed In Lt. Gov. Race

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A corrected tabulation of vote totals here Monday trimmed the lead held by Republican lieutenant governor candidate William Phelps over his Democratic opponent, Jack Schramm, to 6,289 votes.

The correction of votes cast in St. Louis last Tuesday, excluding absentee figures, showed Schramm received 124,720 votes instead of 123,453 as previously reported, Harry Leitz, election director, said.

He said Phelps polled 51,547 in the city rather than 51,227 as previously listed. It marked the second time that delayed votes in St. Louis reduced Phelps lead. The counting of city absentee ballots two days after the election, reduced the Kansas City Republican's apparent winning margin over Schramm to 7,236.

Pending a canvass of the votes by the office of the secretary of state, the final statewide vote tallies are 903,549 for Phelps and 897,260 for Schramm.

In central and southern Ontario, the average annual total snowfall varies from 80 to 120 inches.

One brother is in danger of losing his health care protection;
the other brother is not.
Do you know why?

The brother on the left turned nineteen this year. The other brother is sixteen. The sixteen-year-old is still covered by his family's Blue Cross and Blue Shield protection, but the nineteen-year-old is in danger of losing it.

Why? Because in most cases, Family Blue Cross and Blue Shield membership includes unmarried children only through the calendar year in which they reach nineteen.

This age limit sometimes varies according to the terms of the specific group agreement. If there's a nineteen-year-old in your family, better check your Membership Agreement or contact your Group Leader or call us at Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

To remain eligible for Blue Cross and Blue Shield benefits, the older brother now needs his own membership. We call it a Sponsored Membership. It enables him to continue Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage with no lapse in protection. This Sponsored Membership is easy for you to arrange. Follow these three simple steps:

1. Get a Sponsored Member Application Form. To do this, complete and mail the coupon or see your Blue Cross and Blue Shield Group Leader where you work, or contact Blue Cross and Blue Shield: 756-2400, Box 169, Kansas City, Missouri 64141.
2. Fill it out.
3. Return it by December 10, 1972.

Do it now. If your application is received by December 10, you can be sure your child will still have Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage after this year and with no lapse in protection.

Some colleges and universities offer a special health benefits program for their students. If your son or daughter is attending college, you might want to check with the school on the availability of this student coverage. If you would like to compare the student program with that available through Blue Cross and Blue Shield Sponsored Membership, please contact us; one of our Counselors will be happy to help you.

Sedalians Attend State ERA Rally

Mrs. Marjorie Garansson, 201 East Broadway, and Mrs. Richen Price, 900 Ruth Ann, were among those attending a meeting in Jefferson City Saturday to begin the drive for state ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) to the United States Constitution. The statewide rally was called by a coalition of 16 organizations with memberships totaling more than 160,000 Missourians.

The assembly passed a resolution pledging themselves to work for early ratification and urging action by the Missouri legislature.

At the luncheon which opened the meeting, Mrs. Barbara Eagleton, wife of Missouri's junior Senator, told the group why she supports the ERA and why she persuaded her husband to vote for it. St. Louis attorney Ann Q. Niederlander outlined some of the effects the ERA will have on existing state laws. In the afternoon session Mrs. Ellen Walters, president of the Missouri League of Women Voters, led a discussion on the strategy the ERA Coalition can pursue toward ratification.

The Equal Rights Amendment would become effective two years after date of ratification by the required 38 states, giving states time to bring their laws in line. It provides that "equality under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

Take Action
On Destroying
Two Buildings

The City Council voted Monday evening to condemn and demolish structures at 1700 East Fourth and 1316 South Missouri.

The action came at the conclusion of public hearings concerning each building. Neither is occupied, it was reported.

Woodrow W. Garrison, city building, electrical and plumbing inspector, said that both buildings were in violation of eight of nine municipal requirements. He also said neither building was repairable.

Both buildings received their most recent formal inspections around Aug. 11 and the owners were notified both of the inspections' results and the scheduling of the public hearings. Neither the owners nor any interested parties testified in rebuttal of city evidence Monday night.

The building on Fourth belongs to Elsie Riley, 2001 East Broadway, while William and Nadine Franklin, 1216 West 16th own the structure on Missouri.

The city will wait at least 30 days before letting bids for demolition of the structures. The time period allows for any appeal or work by the owners. The cost of the demolition, when action is taken by the city, becomes a lien on the property, it was learned.

Sedalian
To Trial
At Warsaw

(Democrat-Capital Service)

WARSAW — A Sedalia man went on trial at Benton County Circuit Court here Tuesday on charges of kidnapping, felonious assault and robbery. The jury trial was continuing at prestime Tuesday, a spokesman for the circuit clerk's office said.

Charged is Robert Hall, 42, 1710 South Moniteau.

The charge stems from a Jan. 1, 1972, incident at the home of Hall's ex-wife, Betty Byrd, Route 3, Cole Camp, authorities said.

Hall and another man allegedly entered the home and took a .30-30 caliber rifle from a closet and later fired the weapon at Mike Green, 24, who was in the house at the time of the reported disturbance. Green reportedly suffered a powder burn, but was not seriously injured.

Hall then allegedly forced Green and Hall's step-son, Ervin Friend, 16, to ride to Sedalia with him in his pick-up truck. The two men were later taken by Hall to their homes, authorities said.

The robbery charge against Hall alleges he took $5 or $6 from Green.

Hall was arrested at his Sedalia residence Jan. 2 by Benton and Pettis County sheriff's officers. The State Highway Patrol and Sedalia police also assisted in the arrest.

Pair Bound Over
To Circuit Court

Two Sedalia men who were arrested by Sedalia police last month at Gibson's store, 1020 Thompson Blvd., were bound over to Pettis County Circuit Court Tuesday on charges of second degree burglary and stealing. The ruling followed a preliminary hearing in magistrate court.

The men are Harvey G. Parker, 27, of 412 North Washington, and Tony B. Trammell, 25, of 804 North Missouri.

Sedalia Patrolmen Glenn Baker, Steve Phillips and Tom Wasson testified at the preliminary hearing that Parker and Trammell were arrested at Gibson's about 1:30 a.m. Oct. 20, after they allegedly had in their possession firearms and other items taken from the store.

About $1,835 in merchandise was reportedly taken, including handguns, rifles, and jewelry, police said.

Magistrate Judge Frank Armstrong refused to lower the bonds, which remain at $7,500 for each man. Trammell and Parker are presently in the Pettis County jail.

Report Blacktop
Operations Finished

All of the scheduled blacktopping of roads is completed for the winter, according to Adolf Nold, superintendent of the 12-Mile Special Road District at the monthly meeting of district commissioners held Tuesday morning at the district barn, 2502 South Grand.

The six roads completed are: Camp Branch, Matthews Addition, South Wood Division, Herb Mason Addition, Waters Road and Earl Thompson Road.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and bills were paid.

The next scheduled meeting for the district is Dec. 12.

Present at meeting besides Nold were C. H. Joy, commissioner, and Duane Ewing, secretary.

James Atkinson, president, was absent due to illness.

Smith-Cotton Play
Set For This Week

Two little old ladies who poison lonely gentlemen will appear at 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday on the Smith-Cotton stage in the production of "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Directed by Mrs. J. E. Van Horn, 175 Summer, Smith-Cotton speech and drama instructor, the play combines hidden bodies, spiked elderberry wine and a man who thinks he's Teddy Roosevelt charging up an imaginary San Juan Hill. Student directors are Kathy Kempton, Judy Johnson and Gale Pabst.

Tickets will be available at the door.

Continue Hearings
In Magistrate Court

Preliminary hearings for two men were continued Monday and Tuesday in Pettis County Magistrate Court, according to Mrs. Clara Brown, magistrate clerk.

Scheduled to appear Monday was Kevin Joseph Waters, St. Charles, Ill., charged with possession of a controlled substance. The other man, John Miller Kinker, Kansas City, who is charged with writing an insufficient funds check of more than $100, was scheduled to have his preliminary hearing Tuesday.

No new dates have been set, Mrs. Brown said.

Waters was arrested by Pettis County Sheriff's officers last month after he allegedly had in his possession 24 amphetamine pills.

Kinker allegedly issued a check for $4,204.20 to the Central Missouri Sales Co., 3503 Limit, and used the name of Robert E. Snyder when signing it, according to sheriff's officers.

He was arrested last month by the Highway Patrol in Kansas City.

To Discuss Retirement
Financing

The committing Monday night of $10,000 in federal revenue sharing monies to the fireman's retirement fund by the Mayor and City Council will cast a new shadow on a meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight between trustees of the fund and city officials.

The meeting, scheduled prior to the council's decision, will center on an exploration of the current condition of the fund.

Jones, commenting Monday morning, said "the (retirement) fund is operating in a deficit condition ... The council and myself are quite concerned with this and have committed ourselves to making the fireman's retirement fund actuarially sound."

The council's decision Monday night apparently reflected this feeling.

Jones added that he and the council were particularly concerned because "firemen have indicated they want the level of benefits raised. We now have to determine if we can do this and still be actuarially sound."

The council's decision Monday night to award the money to the fund was made on the condition that firemen themselves increase their payments into it.

A spokesman for the trustees Tuesday said the group's interest was not centered on increased benefits but rather upon the addition of funds to finance the extension of existing benefits to ten newly-hired firemen employed at the new fire station on West 16th.

"Anytime you add ten new members to a program of this sort and don't increase the funds, you're going to run into trouble," the spokesman said.

Tuna War
Is Raging
Once Again

QUITO (AP) — The annual tuna war between Ecuador and U.S. fishermen has begun with the seizure of eight boats. One was released; the other seven are being held until hearings determine whether their owners will be fined.

Ecuadorian naval craft forced the tuna boats into port Sunday and Monday in the continuing dispute over jurisdiction over the fishing grounds off the west coast of South America.

Ecuador, Peru and Chile claim a 200-mile fishing limit, but the United States says international law allows national jurisdiction to extend only 12 miles off shore.

The 830-ton Nautilus and the Freedom were forced into port on Sunday. On Monday, the 1,400-ton Denise Marie, the Gemini, the Polaris, the Sea Quest, the Trinidad and the Clipperton were seized. All are owned by California companies.

The Freedom was released Monday after its skipper produced a license to fish in Ecuadorian waters, the American Tunaboat Association reported.

The U.S. State Department protested the seizures and waited to see what fines would be levied against the boats. President Nixon recently signed legislation authorizing him to compensate U.S. fishermen for such fines judged illegal by Washington and then deduct the amount from any American aid furnished the foreign government.

Receives Sentence
In No Funds Case

Frederick Lainhart, 23, Bethany, pleaded guilty to a charge of issuing a no funds check in Pettis County Circuit Court Monday and was sentenced to six months in the county jail.

Lainhart's attorney filed an application for probation after sentencing, but after a hearing was held, the application was withdrawn.

Lainhart allegedly wrote a no funds check in the amount of $24.86 at Looies Men's Furnishings, 103 West Main, on Aug. 23 this year.

He was later apprehended in Harrison County and brought to Pettis County by sheriff's officers.

Wallace
Dropout Important

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says the loss of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace from the presidential campaign picture was one of the most significant factors in the South Dakotan's crushing defeat, the Baltimore Sun reported today.

Wallace, who was wounded during Democratic primary campaigning and withdrew from political activity while recovering, would otherwise have run as an independent taking a large bite out of the Republican vote which helped Nixon carry 49 states and poll 61 per cent of the vote, McGovern said.

"President Nixon capitalized on that opportunity with a candidacy that was really tailor-made to attract Wallace voters," McGovern said Sunday in a joint interview with the Sun and The New York Times at a vacation spot in the Virgin Islands.

If Wallace had run "he would have gotten a whale of a lot of votes... Then I probably would have won the presidency. On that basis, we could have won," McGovern said.

McGovern said his own ambitions now center on re-election to the Senate from South Dakota in 1974. He said he had not made up his mind on what to do about the challenge to Jean Westwood's tenure as chairman of the Democratic National Committee but offered to act as a "reconciling influence" in any party disputes.

The defeated candidate also attributed his own unpopular stands on key issues and the removal of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri as his running mate as factors which hurt his campaign.

"I knew the Eagleton matter did hurt us, because once we were into that situation there was no way we could come out without being hurt," McGovern said.

The senator also said he felt his stands on some key issues may have been ahead of the times and credited Nixon with sensing the mood of the country on such issues as the Vietnam war, defense spending and bus-ing of school children to achieve racial balance.

To Release Funds
In Christmas Clubs

Those persons who dutifully saved their dollars throughout the year in anticipation of a holiday spending spree will be able to reap the benefit of their foresight Wednesday when local banks release a total of $410,000 in Christmas Club accounts.

Broken down this total figure reflects $50,000 in the Missouri State Bank, $100,000 in Sedalia Bank and Trust, $170,000 in the Third National Bank and $90,000 in the Union Savings Bank.

The city's two savings and loan establishments did not participate in a Christmas Club program this year.

Election Workers
Checks Are Ready

Salary checks for all election judges and clerks who worked in the Nov. 7 general election can now be picked up at her office, County Clerk Mrs. Mary Jane Wilson announced Tuesday.

The total value of the checks, $5,100, reflects a payment of $15 to each of the county's 340 election judges and clerks.

Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Is One Flour More Healthful?

Dear Dr. Lamb — Is it true that white flour, though enriched, contains but few of the vitamins and minerals present in whole wheat flour? Exactly how much difference in nutritional value is there between white enriched and whole wheat flour?

Dear Reader — There is not much difference. The white flour loses vitamins and natural elements in the milling process and for this reason it is enriched. The law requires this enrichment to bring it up to standards very nearly that found in whole wheat. Periodically the amounts are changed. The values for the principal vitamins and iron found in 3½ ounces of the two flours are:

Whole wheat — Thiamine, .55 milligrams; riboflavin, .12 milligrams; niacin, 4.3 milligrams; iron, 3.3 milligrams.

Enriched flour — Thiamine, .44 milligrams; riboflavin, .26 milligrams; niacin, 3.5 milligrams; iron, 2.9 milligrams.

These differences between the two in these three vitamins are not really significant. I should add that whole wheat flour probably contains more vitamin E, but there is a great deal of vitamin E in all of the other food substances we eat anyway. The whole wheat flour also contains nearly one-third more protein and twice as much fat as the enriched flour, but the principal food ingredient is carbohydrates. Both products are low in protein. These values are from the U.S. Department of Agriculture Handbook.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I read your article about epileptics. I am one myself. I am very lucky to have only about one seizure a year. I am married to a wonderful man and have three healthy children and none of them have it. I only have to take medicine once or twice a week.

My mother says that I have brought a disgrace to her because of this disease. I feel guilty about having it, but I can't help it. Please tell me what to do about my mother feeling this way. I am sorry I cannot sign my name. I have a very normal life and drive and do anything I want to do.

Dear Reader — Your mother has acted in a most unmotherly way. Her prejudice is a result of her ignorance. In adopting this attitude she has caused you to have an unnecessary guilt reaction and made it more difficult for you to adjust and have a normal, happy life. I am glad to see that you have been relatively successful in spite of her efforts.

Everybody has to develop tolerances for other people's shortcomings. This includes members of one's family. In this case it is your mother's shortcomings and the best thing I could advise you to do is just to learn to recognize that this is your mother's problem, based on her own ignorance. Once you learn to accept the fact that she has a problem, you can be more tolerant of her misguided treatment of you.

The other course of action would be to try to help educate her with literature so that she can learn to accept epilepsy as simply another disease such as diabetes. I wonder if she would feel that you had brought a disgrace to her if you had been a diabetic. There really is no difference.

Leaded Tinsel
Off the MarketBy JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration says that "not a single strand" of lead Christmas tree tinsel should be found on store shelves this Yule season.

"It's gone. We have assurances that not one ounce will be sold this year," said Malcolm "Mac" Jensen, director of FDA's Bureau of Product Safety.

Last Christmas the agency was accused of agreeing secretly with several lead tinsel manufacturers not to publicize an understanding that production would stop Jan. 1, 1972, but sales could continue through the 1972 Christmas season.

Jensen denies it. "There was never any effort to hide it," he said in an interview. "The decision was made internally not to publicize it because we feared that many people preferring the lead variety would stockpile it."

After the charges of secret-dealing surfaced, Jensen said, "We got back to the industry and said, 'You haven't got a saleable product anymore. You might as well get out of the lead business.'"

At the same time, he said, the FDA asked customs agents to freeze any lead tinsel imports.

The FDA campaign is based on persuasion of manufacturers and importers following a conclusion by FDA in August 1971 that lead tinsel was an unnecessary risk to children with

Key Discovered
In Murder Case

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Police were centering their attention Monday on a key found in the office of murdered inventor Victor Null, 34, who was found shot to death last Thursday.

A working model of a turbine engine Null was developing was found near his body, but plans of the engine, which was said to be capable of reducing automobile air pollution, were not found in his ransacked office.

"We have assurances in writing from all manufacturers and importers that absolutely none will be distributed this year," he said.

Democrats return from primrose path

Despite severe injuries suffered in last Tuesday's landslide, the Democratic Party is still showing signs of life, and the hope grows that it will be restored to full health before 1976.

The latest development is the formation of something called the Coalition for a Democratic Majority, which is aimed at returning the party to its dominant status. Sens. Hubert Humphrey and Henry Jackson, both casualties of the McGovern juggernaut, are supporting the Coalition.

As a rallying point for moderate and "old line" Democrats, the Coalition seeks to wrest the party from what remains of the McGovern forces and remold it as the party of the majority of Americans.

Even former Democratic National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien, most recently Sen. George McGovern's campaign chairman, admits that they are in trouble. "Clearly the Democratic Party is not a majority in this country," he said Sunday.

Its majority status was destroyed that day in Miami Beach when Senator McGovern and his supporters rolled to victory over the bodies of regular Democrats, who saw their party seized just as surely as Barry Goldwater seized the Republican Party in 1964.

The results for the Democratic Party were the same as befell the GOP eight years earlier: a smashing and humiliating defeat at the hands of the electorate. Has there ever been a clearer vindication of the saying that those who are ignorant of history are condemned to repeat it?

The road to political success in this nation still lies in the great middle ground and not the fringes, be they of the right or left. The Democratic Party should lose no time in finding its way back from the primrose path it followed to near destruction in 1972.

WASHINGTON — We have uncovered new evidence — as shocking in the financial field as Gen. John Lavelle's unauthorized bombing of North Vietnam — of the Pentagon's growing disregard for civilian authority.

Internal military documents in our possession reveal that the Bureau of Naval Personnel has illegally contracted to spend at least $70 million, and probably well over $100 million, without the consent of Congress.

These excesses, committed by contract if not actually paid out, are called "overobligations." The term sounds terribly technical, but the act is a serious federal crime. The Anti-Deficiency Act forbids government employees from spending or obligating more money than Congress appropriates.

In a day when cost overruns, wasteful duplication and other military squandering are commonplace, overobligations of a few million dollars may seem almost trifling. But veteran Washington budget officials warn of the severe consequences of spending even $1,000 without the consent of Congress.

One official, who requested his name not be used, commented: "If a department overobligates, all hell breaks loose. You're really in the fire then. Congress simply will not give you money if you show that you can't handle it properly."

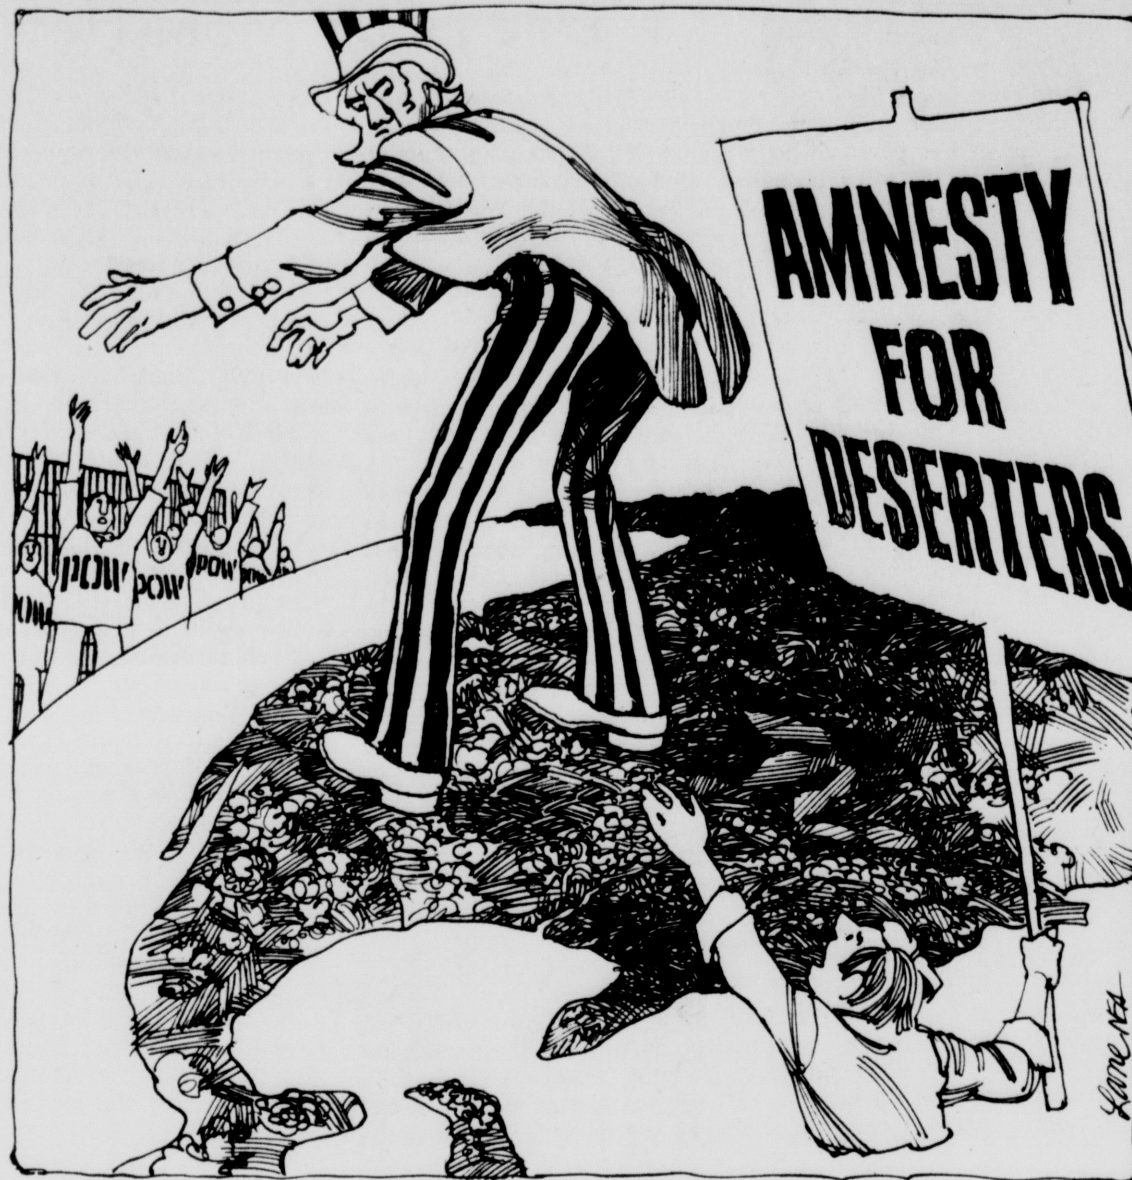

The Pentagon, however, has taken a cavalier attitude toward the authority of Congress to restrict military spending. Some brass hats seem to feel they can spend what they like and Congress will make it good with a deficiency appropriation.

Navy documents available to us compute the overobligations for fiscal 1971 at $82,663,797.56, plus another $38,537,584.11 for fiscal 1972. Pentagon spokesmen refused to discuss the figures with us, but they have admitted to Congress that the sum for 1971 is at least $70 million.

Defense Secretary Mel Laird has kept an angered House Appropriations Committee in the dark about this flagrant financing, but committee investigators have learned informally:

(1) That the overobligations are probably coupled with actual overspending; (2) that

"Hey! Gimme a Hand, Will Ya?"

Merry-go-round

Navy overspends, defies Congress

some of the illegal contracting likely was deliberate, disturbing defiance of congressional authority; (3) that the violations fall largely in the Navy's personnel travel budget but probably include other personnel budgets as well; and (4) this flaunting of congressional control was the work not of a few isolated officials but, probably, of scores of personnel officers.

Federal agencies that spend even a few dollars more than Congress appropriates are required to submit an immediate, detailed report explaining the amount of the violation, identification of the guilty officials and what actions will be taken to prevent a recurrence. Violators can be fired, fined up to $5,000 or thrown in jail for up to two years.

Secretary Laird, in an April 12 letter to House Appropriations Chairman George Mahon, D-Tex., promised a report on the Navy violations by the end of May. Six months later, the report has yet to arrive.

When we called Laird's office to inquire about the delay, our calls were not returned. Congressional investigators were told the report has been held up "to protect the rights of accused officers."

Disappointed at vote

In regard to Proposition No. 2 for Alpha Sintered on the ballot in Tuesday's election, I would like to thank the 4,924 plus people that voted for the proposition. It's encouraging to know that there are that many progressive citizens in our fair city. People that are interested in providing fifty more jobs to people in this trade area. That would mean fifty more families shopping for groceries, clothing, homes, autos, and other articles of necessity and luxury.

These jobs would help either directly or indirectly every person in our area. I noticed one article in Hot Line that said, "What we need is more big paying jobs!" Doesn't that individual know that more jobs won't lower the scale of living in any way? The old law of supply and demand assures that the more jobs there are, the higher the pay scale will go.

was. The White House staff panicked and an aide called the tailor in Washington, "Bring the President's suit right away."

"But," protested the tailor, "the coat has no back to it."

"Never mind the back," Bob Haldeman said. "We're sending the President's plane for it and you'd better have it at Andrews Air Force Base when we get there."

The tailor met the President's plane with the unfinished suit and it was delivered just before Mr. Nixon was scheduled to vote. He put the suit on and asked his friends, Secret Service men and family, "How do you like it?"

As in the case of the emperor who had no clothes on, no one dared tell the President his suit had no back.

And that is why every Republican candidate who tried to grab the President's coattails on Election Day found himself with a handful of muslin instead.

Rosebud and Lord Macaulay

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

SCRABBLE, Va. — A considerable problem in diplomacy, strategy and old-fashioned hospitality has arisen at our small spread here in the Blue Ridge Mountains. It is a problem that has to be approached with delicacy and courage, if indeed it has to be approached at all.

It is the problem of Rosebud and Lord Macaulay. They are skunks.

Our problems up here, you will understand, are not problems of large dimensions: no crime, no drugs, no traffic, no sirens in the night. This time of year, to tell the truth, there is not much to do. November is that kind of month.

If a cow wiggles through a fence and comes up in the yard, Lorenzo chases the beast away and we talk about it for two or three days. Anyhow Lorenzo talks about it for two or three days. He is a great talker, that collier.

But about Rosebud. The general rule at our place is that Lorenzo kills the groundhogs, and my wife traps the mice. I swat the flies, but otherwise no one kills anything. The rule is live and let live. If the human race would just observe that rule, we'd have a better human race. Here the rule works admirably for quail, doves, deer, fox, possum, 'coon, chipmunks, rabbits, squirrels, and even snakes, and of course Rosebud and Lord Macaulay are entitled to the same Fifth Amendment protections. But as I say, they are — well, they are skunks.

Rosebud appeared about a month ago, along a fence row a hundred yards from the house: a cunning creature, black as a Bible, with a white-washed face and a white-tipped tail. She was grubbing away in the front field, minding her own business. Everybody came out on the deck to look at Rosebud, and Rosebud looked back at us. Lorenzo, who is nobody's fool, lay down and looked the other way.

This was about the middle of October. Every night we now see Rosebud on patrol. Once, coming home from a good party, I durned near ran over her in the driveway. Since then we have been coming up that driveway ver-r-ry slowly. If Rosebud is in the way, we wait till the don't-walk sign changes. Live and let live.

Then, 10 days ago, we were coming home by twilight, ver-r-ry slowly, and there was her gentleman friend. Back in September we had built an umpire's platform for the tennis tournament — plywood nailed on a couple of sawhorses — and sitting on that platform, if you would believe it, haughtily surveying the turf, was the noblest skunk I ever saw.

He had a certain arrogance about him. You remember Macaulay? "I do not hesitate to pronounce," he used to say. After a while, when it suited him and not one moment before, this skunk shinned down and strode across the driveway. It is no use telling me that skunks amble, or waddle, or lumber along. Lord Macaulay strode.

What to do? They have moved in. They have taken up housekeeping. Last week Rosebud hung out a line of wash. Lord Macaulay has taken to sitting around the tennis court by evening, in white ruffled shirt and black smoking jacket, smoking a thin cigar. We are having a flossy party next week for the press. Suppose the Washington Post contingent comes up the drive, and za-a-ap! It boggles the mind.

One distant friend has suggested that Lord Macaulay and his paramour be trapped alive and transported. Some months ago, when the chipmunks and squirrels were stealing our bird feeders blind, I bought two Hav-a-Hart traps, one small, one middle-sized, but I never had the heart to set the big one and the small one caught nothing but Charlie the chipping sparrow. It caught him twice and he was plenty burned up. Besides, how would you get a live skunk out of the trap?

So there is the problem. It is not exactly a monumental problem, compared to those that afflict the larger world, but it worries me. Rosebud was grubbing away last night within 25 yards of the house. If Dr. Kissinger will hurry up and settle this Vietnam thing, perhaps he could run out some weekend and negotiate a truce with these characters. Otherwise we may have to let Lord Macaulay referee the next tournament, and who wants this guy to keep score?

How the President lost his coattails

WASHINGTON — Everyone is asking why President Nixon, with his tremendous victory, was unable to bring in any of the other Republican candidates on his coattails.

I can now clear up the mystery: The President did not have any coattails for anyone to hitch on to.

Buchwald

Two weeks later the tailor came back to give Mr. Nixon his first fitting. The President, aware that candidates all over the country were depending on him, asked the tailor, "What about the coattails?"

"The coattails come last," the tailor replied. "First I have to get the collar and the lapels right."

"Wouldn't a double vent give me a longer coattail for the other candidates to hitch on to?"

"You want a double vent in the jacket," the tailor said. "I'll give you a double vent."

"I guess the politically popular thing would be for me to have a single vent. But sometimes a President must do the unpopular thing even if he loses votes."

"A double vent is just as good as a single vent," the tailor said.

"I have to think not only of my party, but of all America. My choice of a vent should not be decided because of one special interest group or another. It's true some people in this country, honest people with the best of intentions, believe in the single-vent jacket. They have a right to their opinion and I respect them for it, but I hope they also respect my right to have a double vent in my jacket if I believe it's best for the country."

"Will you stop moving your hands, Mr. President, or I'll never get the shoulders straight."

"I believe the great thing about this country is that we can honestly disagree about vents in our jackets and, after Election Day, get behind the President whether he has one or two vents in his suit."

"You make me proud to be an American tailor," the suitmaker said.

The tailor went away and worked on the suit. He tried to get an appointment for another fitting, but every time he got someone on the White House phone they told him the President was too busy to see him. The tailor was desperate and said he had to give the President another fitting as he hadn't measured Mr. Nixon for his coattails.

Apparently the person he talked to didn't realize the significance of the fitting and gave the tailor the brushoff.

On election morning at San Clemente, the President asked where his new suit

BONN, Germany (AP) — The stocky, balding man at the microphone listens smilingly to the jeers and catcalls mingling with the applause that wells up from the crowded hall.

"Just carry on like that," says Rainer Barzel. "You cheer me up. You're going to help get me elected."

A roar of appreciative laughter and clapping drowns out the catcalls.

Barzel is the Christian Democratic party's candidate for chancellor. He is challenging Willy Brandt in next Sunday's election. At 48 he is 10 years junior to Chancellor Brandt.

Some of the long-haired youngsters in jeans and sloppy windbreakers wear "Willy Waehlen"—elect Willy—buttens. They try to drown out Barzel's words with rhythmic clapping and chants of "Willy, Willy, Willy."

The interruptions give him an opening for retorts which rally audiences to his side. They also let him accuse Brandt's Social Democratic party of being dominated by its Marxist-leaning youth wing. The charge seems effective among Barzel's conservative middle-class supporters.

Barzel's rapid climb to prominence is almost unequalled in West German political history. But though he has made his mark as an extremely capable politician, he trails Brandt in personal popularity. One reason, Barzel's critics say, is that the rugged, chancellor makes a warmer, more authoritative impression.

Barzel was the son of a schoolmaster in Braunsberg, now part of Poland. He ended World War II as a navy flier lieutenant and gained a law doctorate from Cologne University.

He entered politics in 1949 after starting a civil service career, and first gained notice as an ardent anti-Communist. He founded a "save freedom" group in the '50s which accused hundreds of intellectuals of being Red.

Barzel got a Cabinet post at 38, serving a year as minister for all-German affairs under Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He became parliamentary floor-leader of his party in 1964 and made his mark as a tough organizer and tactician.

There were some setbacks. He backed Ludwig Erhard for the chancellorship in 1959 when word went out that Konrad Adenauer was thinking of stepping down. The old chancellor changed his mind, leaving the Erhard-Barzel faction in the cold.

Barzel was crushingly defeated in a 1966 bid to be the party's candidate for chancellor.

He finally made it a year ago when the party elected him chairman in place of former Chancellor Kurt-Georg Kiesinger.

Party members longingly remember the undisputed sway it held under Adenauer, revered as West Germany's founding chancellor.

There is speculation Barzel may not last long if he fails to reinstate the party, which lost to Brandt's coalition in 1969 after 20 unbroken years of rule.

Barzel pooh-poohs such speculation. "With every day of the campaign, it becomes more obvious who is boss of this party," he told newsmen during a recent campaign trip.

Adoptive Parents Buoyed By Decision

MIAMI (AP) — "Baby Lenore belongs to God and we intend to take good care of her for Him," vowed the adoptive mother of the 2½-year-old toddler after winning a widely publicized custody fight which went all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Jean De Martino and her husband, Nicholas, held an emotion-charged news conference Monday after the high court refused to hear an appeal from Lenore's natural mother, Olga Scarpetta.

Scarpetta followed the De Martinos to Florida to resume the custody fight. But the Florida 3rd Circuit Appeals Court ruled that more damage would be done if Lenore, then 2, were returned to her natural mother.

Stanley Rosenblatt, Miss Scarpetta's Miami attorney, said the Supreme Court's refusal to hear the case still left the conflicting state rulings unresolved. "They cannot take the baby back to New York and they have never adopted the baby in Florida," he said.

"We intend to provide her (Lenore) with all the necessities, most importantly, love," said De Martino, who gave up a Brooklyn law practice and fled to Miami with his family in April 1971 after New York courts ruled they had to return Lenore to her natural mother.

"We hope she grows up to be an independent and self-providing individual, happy and well educated," Mrs. De Martino added.

The Supreme Court ended the two-state custody fight when it refused to hear an appeal by Miss Scarpetta, who had asked that a Florida appeals court ruling granting custody of the child to the De Martinos be overturned.

Miss Scarpetta came to New York from her native Colombia to give birth to the baby on May 19, 1970. She turned the child over to a public adoption agency four days later, but changed her mind after a month and asked that Lenore be returned.

After winning the ensuing court battle in New York, Miss

Interim Coach

Bengston Replaces Mazur

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Phil Bengston, who helped Vince Lombardi take the Green Bay Packers from a doormat to five National Football League championships and victories in the first two Super Bowls, was set to tackle another tough job today as interim coach of the New England Patriots.

Bengston, an outstanding tackle at the University of Minnesota before his graduation in 1935, was named to lead the Patriots for the remainder of the season Monday night, just a few hours after John Mazur resigned in the wake of a 52-0 blitz by unbeaten Miami.

"It's for five games," New England General Manager Upton Bell said. "The money, the terms, just for five games. There was nothing else discussed with Bengston. He is a man respected throughout football and he's our head coach for the next five weeks."

Bengston, who left the San Francisco 49ers after eight years as an assistant coach to answer Lombardi's call to join him in Green Bay in 1959, was a surprise choice after Mazur became the Patriots' third coach in less than four years to leave the club.

Mazur, a former Notre Dame quarterback who also helped to build a couple of champions as an assistant coach with the Buffalo Bills, took over the Patriots midway through the 1970 season when Clive Rush was asked to step out.

Mazur was given a one-year contract for 1971, before Bell was lured from the Baltimore Colts' front office. It was no secret that Bell wanted his own head coach, but he had to accept Mazur.

With the arrival of quarterback Jim Plunkett, the Patriots surprised everyone last season, compiling a 6-8 record. Bell thought he had authority to hire a new coach, but found out differently as the club's board of directors handed Mazur a new one-year contract.

Mazur and Bell disagreed on many things. Both had difficulty containing themselves to prevent a public airing of their troubles. The Patriots lost their season opener to Cincinnati, but then fashioned one-point upset victories over Atlanta and Washington.

Everything since has been downhill with both the offense, including Plunkett, and the defense at fault in six consecutive losses.

Six Named All-CMC

S-C Dominates on Defense

The Smith-Cotton Tigers dominate the 1972 All-Central Missouri Conference defensive team, announced Tuesday morning by CMC executive Secretary Fred Faurot of Columbia Hickman High School.

Six S-C players, four of whom are juniors, were selected by the league coaches. The two seniors named to the defensive squad were guard Aaron Hartt and middle linebacker Ken McDowell. Rounding out the S-C team members on the squad are tackle Darrell Robinson, end Dan Knievel, cornerback Mike Boggs and safety Jim Sanders.

Columbia placed three players on the defensive team, tackle Mark Tapley, linebacker Mike Flaco and safety Terry Newman, while Jefferson City had two players named, end Brad Bodamer and linebacker Linden Boyd.

However, on offense, the Tigers failed to place one member on the 12-man squad.

Columbia, who wrestled the CMC championship away from Jefferson City for the first time since 1966, dominated that division with six players.

Jefferson City had three named, as did Hannibal.

Hartt, the biggest member of the Tigers at 255, was named to the honorable mention list last season as a junior in the CMC. For the balance of the Smith-Cotton gridders named this year, it was their first such award.

Although defensive statistics are not available, McDowell was the team leader on tackles. His best game of the season came against St. Joseph Lafayette, when he was in on 19 tackles.

Jim Sanders, the team leader for intercepted passes with six, saved a lot of scores this year says his coach Greg Cook.

Boggs drew equal praise from Cook, as he noted that Boggs is probably one of the best linebackers in the conference. "He really plays his cornerback position well," Boggs alternated his time with sophomore Jim Vansell late in the season.

"Dan Knievel really came into his own this year. He is strong; he reads the offense well. He turned in a bunch of wide plays this year," said Cook. Knievel also recovered three fumbles this season as the Tigers posted a final-season record of 4-5-1.

Darrell Robinson, a promising running back as a sophomore until he fractured a leg in a 1971 pre-season scrimmage, was moved to the defensive line about midway through the pre-season practice sessions.

Overall, the Smith-Cotton defense held their 10 opponents to 1,673 total yards on offense. That was nearly 700 less than the Tigers picked up running and passing. They amassed 2,370 during their best season since 1968, when they went .500, winning five and losing five.

Six players from this year's S-C team were named to the honorable mention list. They included senior linemen Chuck Meyers, Richard Hargrave and Harold Woods. Also named were Jack Cook, Tom Bloess and Rick Carter.

Bloess was the team's top rusher with 576 net yards; Carter was the team's leading receiver with 320 yards on 13 catches, two of which went for touchdowns.

Stan Wallace was named as the CMC's top quarterback. He along with Jefferson City teammate Terry Nienhaber and Columbia's Don Matthews and Mike Newman, made up the all-conference backfield.

The players were presented with individual trophies and patches for capturing the league championship.

will be the Stover-Cole Camp contest, on the latter's court.

Stover is 4-0 after sweeping aside LaMonte, Warsaw and Sedalia Sacred Heart in last week's league tourney at Lincoln.

Sacred Heart, seeded first in last week's nine-team event, will be seeking the winning track on the same floor that they played on last week, when they take on the Lincoln Cardinals. The Gremlins wound up in second place, suffering a 68-61 loss in the championship contest at Stover.

Smithton, winner of the third place trophy in the Kaysinger tournament, will be on the road in Green Ridge to open league play, as will Northwest, who takes on Warsaw.

In the loop's lone non-conference contest, LaMonte will be at Buncheon.

In addition to basketball, the four league games will also initiate the 1972-73 volleyball season for the girls.

Bear Bryant Says 'We're Number 1'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The best football team in the country is only No. 2 in the Associated Press college football poll, according to Alabama Coach Paul Bryant.

"The way I see it, the team that improves the most over a season should be No. 1," says Bryant. "And I think that we have improved tremendously."

Alabama, still second to Southern California in this week's poll, won the Southeastern Conference title Saturday with a 35-21 rout of sixth-ranked Louisiana State. Bryant thinks it proved something.

"It was a great win for a great football team against a great team," said Bryant, overflowing with superlatives.

Before Saturday's convincing victory over the Tigers, Bryant said he thought that perhaps Southern Cal and Michigan might be better than his team.

But not now. "The polls have not been important until now," said Bryant. "But with the season coming to an end, they become very important—especially at the top of the list. As I see it, there's plenty of room at the top for us."

Southern Cal, Alabama and Michigan, the only major teams with perfect records, remained 1-2-3 in the AP ratings, released Monday.

Pacesetter since the first week of the season, Southern Cal received 42 first-place votes and 984 points from a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters. Alabama held onto second with five ballots for first place and 890 points. Michigan, the only other team to get first-place votes with three, was third on a total of 812 points.

Rodgers Named Offensive Back

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Johnny Rodgers has scored again.

For the third time this football season, the elusive Nebraska flash was selected today as the Big Eight Conference offensive player of the week.

Rodgers, a leading candidate for the Heisman Trophy, was named this time for his pass receiving, touchdown making and kick returns in the Cornhuskers' 23-23 stalemate last Saturday with Iowa State.

The dazzling wingback caught nine passes for 132 yards, scored touchdowns on receptions of four and 35-yard passes from Dave Humm, returned two punts for 12 yards and a kickoff for 28 yards.

Husker Coach Bob Devaney said Rodgers' play "was tremendous."

Coach Johnny Majors of Iowa State said the Cyclones used three kickers and three types of kicking schemes to try to keep Rodgers from running them back.

Said Majors: "We kicked high, we kicked out of bounds, and we even were prepared to kick a field goal attempt out of bounds. We once kicked on third and 25 because we knew Rodgers was out of the game."

"He's a game breaker. I've never seen a more exciting player. He's a thrill a minute but he's instant cardiac arrest for coaches."

Devaney said Rodgers "should certainly win the Heisman Trophy."

Devaney was asked during a telephone briefing session if Rodgers' 1971 plea of guilty to a felony charge and alleged traffic violations might be considered in Heisman voting. "I can't see how any problems he had over two years ago should affect him for the Heisman," Devaney said. "If the Heisman is to be a character award, they ought to list it as such."

Coaches Vince Gibson of Kansas State, Don Fambrough of Kansas and Chuck Fairbanks of Oklahoma agreed that the only consideration for the award should be a player's performance.

Rodgers won the Big Eight honor in a split vote over Oklahoma halfback Greg Pruitt, another Heisman candidate.

Pruitt had 195 yards rushing and scored a touchdown in the Sooners' 17-6 victory over Missouri.

Other nominees were tight end J. V. Cain of Colorado, fullback George Palmer of Oklahoma State, wide receiver Emmett Edwards of Kansas and the entire Iowa State offensive line.

Tackle Merv Krakau of Iowa State was unanimously selected the league's defensive player of the week Monday. Majors said Krakau "played the best defensive game I've ever seen."

Coaches Paint Dim Pictures

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Coaches Don Fambrough and Vince Gibson of Kansas State indicated Monday that Saturday could be a gloomy day for their Big Eight Conference football teams.

Kansas is host to fourth-ranked Oklahoma. Kansas State, beaten in its last four starts, goes to fifth-ranked Nebraska.

Fambrough said during the Big Eight's weekly telephone briefing session the Jayhawks, beaten last week by Colorado, are "gonna have to bounce a long way to bounce back against Oklahoma. Oklahoma's one of the great teams in the country.

"I hope they make some mistakes. We hope to take the long play away from them. We know we may be playing the best team in the country. Oklahoma is 50 per cent better on defense than last year. They're right up there with Nebraska on defense."

"It is rough to go to Nebraska after four straight losses," said Gibson. "It's frustrating to do anything this year but our kids will scrap and fight."

"I feel lower than two years ago when we were put on probation. I was bitter then. I really thought we got it stuck to us."

Nebraska Coach Bob Devaney didn't seem exactly happy that the Huskers face the Wildcats.

"If they eliminate their mistakes," Devaney said, "They could give us trouble. At times, Kansas State has played extremely well and could have won some of their games."

Coach Chuck Fairbanks said he would "be foolish not to be worried about Kansas. The last two weeks Kansas has been playing better than earlier. Their running game is better now. Now you have to defend against both the run and the pass."

Johnny Majors, coach of Iowa State's 12th-ranked team, asserted the Cyclones, who tied Nebraska last week, "will find out what we're made of this week" against 19th-ranked Missouri. "If we beat Missouri, I think we'll have a good chance at a bowl game. We've got a rugged game ahead of us with Missouri."

Missouri Coach Al Onofrio described Iowa State as "a real fine football team. That concerns us. Iowa State has shown they're up there with Nebraska and Oklahoma. Their tie with Nebraska was no fluke."

Coach Eddie Crowder of Colorado summed up Saturday's game at Air Force as "a really tough one. It's a traditional rivalry type game."

"They've had a couple of tough losses back to back, and we've had success against them the last couple of years."

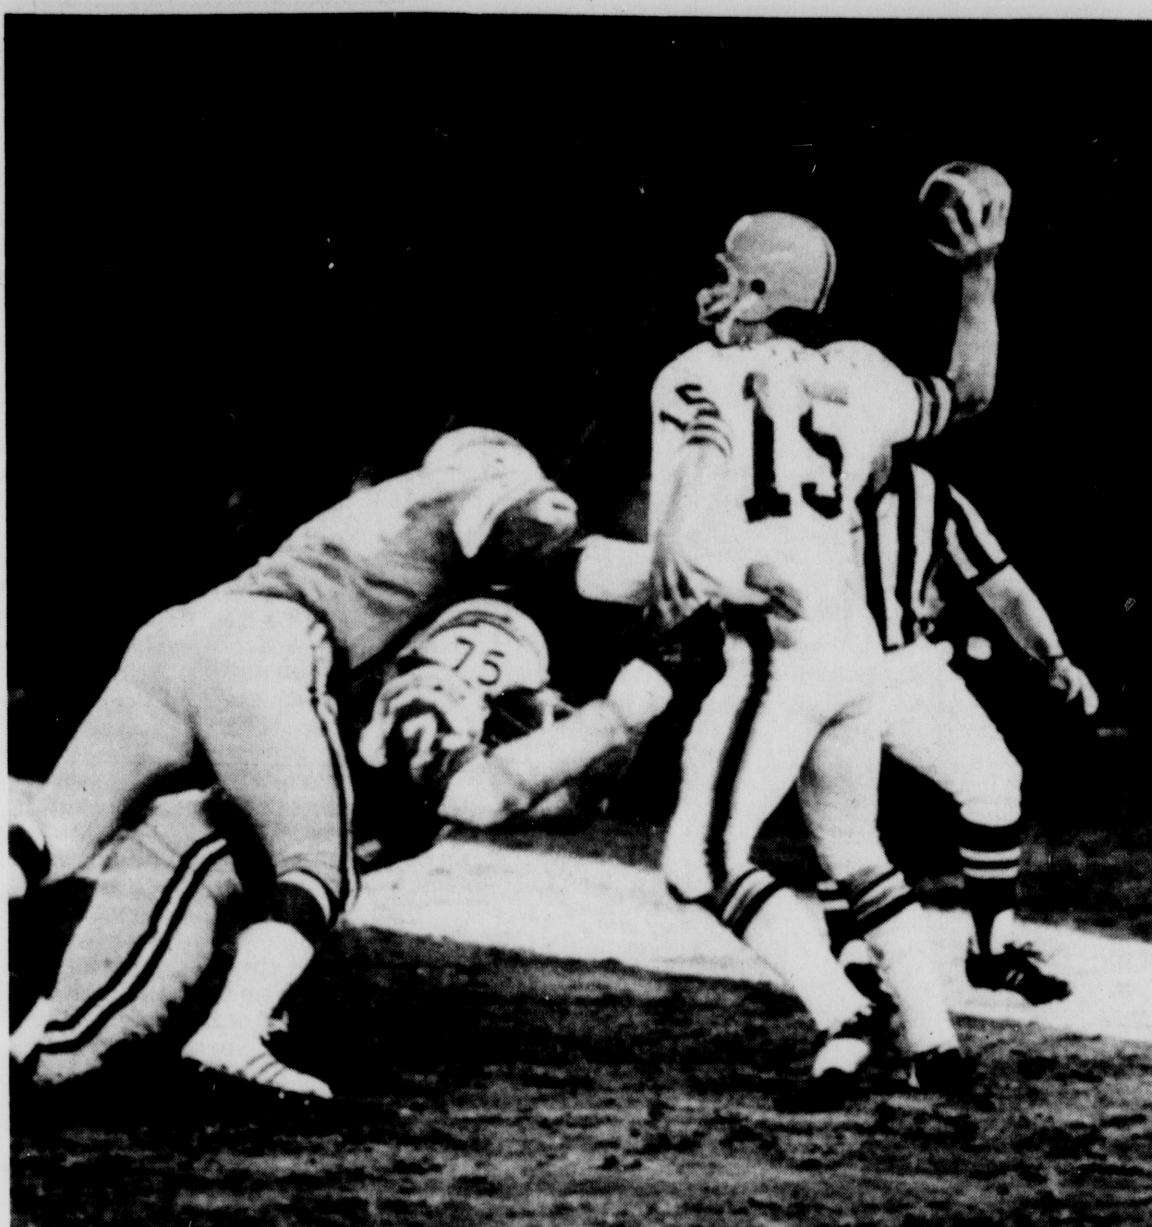

Like Majors, some of the other coaches were thinking about bowl games.

Crowder, his team ranked No. 15, said he had talked with most of the bowls "except the Orange, Sugar and Cotton. I talked to these three earlier but I don't think we're on their list now. We're always reluctant to accept a bowl game before our last game."

Majors said he had talked to the Sun, Bluebonnet, Gator and Liberty Bowls among others.

Fairbanks didn't know whether the Sooners would accept an invitation before their game with Nebraska Thanksgiving Day.

Fairbanks said it depends on "who's asking. If either of us (Oklahoma or Nebraska) was offered an attractive game, I think we should go ahead and accept."

Phipps Under Pressure

Deacon Jones (75) and Dave Costa (64) scramble after Cleveland Browns' quarterback Mike Phipps in his own end zone during Monday night's NFL game in San Diego. Phipps threw, but was called for grounding the ball. However, Phipps' arm carried the Browns to a 21-17 win in the final 41 seconds as he hit Frank Pitts on a 38-yard scoring toss. (UPI)

Chargers Fall, 21-17

Phipps, Pitts Combine For Late Browns Win

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The trade that sent Cleveland Browns receiver Paul Warfield to Miami for a draft choice three years ago was greeted by cheers in Miami—and groans in Cleveland.

Both reactions grew louder last year when Warfield helped the Dolphins into the Super Bowl and Cleveland's draft choice, quarterback Mike Phipps, didn't play often or well.

But Brown Coach Nick Skorich isn't groaning today.

"I think it was one of the greatest trades the Browns have ever made," he said Monday night after Phipps' 38-yard touchdown pass to Frank Pitts with 41 seconds to play gave the Browns a 21-17 victory over the San Diego Chargers. It kept the Browns' National Football League playoff hopes alive.

"We had to give up a super receiver but we got a great young quarterback in Phipps," Skorich said. "He'll play 15-18 years."

The victory, before 54,202 and a national television audience, was the Browns' fourth straight and gave them a 6-3 record, one game behind Pittsburgh in the American Conference Central Division. They meet the Steelers twice in the next four weeks.

The Chargers, 2-6-1, dropped their fifth straight game after taking the lead with 1:21 to play on Mike Garrett's three-yard run.

Phipps, who spent his first two NFL seasons on the bench behind veteran Bill Nelsen, said he had planned to set up a game-tying field goal when the call for a long pass came in from the bench.

"It's hard to score in less than a minute," he said. "You have to think 'field goal' in a situation like that."

On the winning play, Phipps said, "I thought the pass was a little bit out of his (Pitts') reach."

The veteran Pitts had a wrenched back and said he hadn't expected to play. But besides the final pass, he caught four others and also got the Browns moving late in the first half with a 13-yard run on a flanker reverse.

San Diego Coach Harland Sore said his team "blew pass defenses all day long."

"Everybody wasn't playing the same defense, particularly on that last series," he said. "It's downright silly to let them go that long, that fast for a score."

San Diego's mistakes weren't limited to pass defense.

The Chargers fumbled the ball away twice, once on the Cleveland four-yard line after a 73-yard march.

Garrett gained 89 yards and running mate Cid Edwards pounded out 91, also catching a four-yard touchdown pass from John Hadl. On the Cleveland side, Leroy Kelly rushed for 67 yards, Phipps one yard for a touchdown and Ken Brown two yards for a score. Brown also ran 19 yards with a swing pass, on the play before the winning touchdown.

Despite Off-field Record

Devaney Backs John Rodgers For Heisman

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Nebraska Coach Bob Devaney said Monday he doesn't think Johnny Rodgers' brushes with the law should have anything to do with the Cornhusker football star's consideration for the Heisman Trophy.

"Johnny should certainly win the Heisman Trophy," said Devaney. "I can't see how any problems he had over two years ago should affect him for the Heisman."

Rodgers, a receiver and kick return specialist, pleaded guilty in 1971 to a felony charge growing out of a gas station holdup. He was placed on probation for two years.

Early this year, Rodgers was arrested on suspicion of possession of marijuana. The charge was dropped. Rodgers was convicted last month of operating a motor vehicle while his driver's license was revoked.

Devaney, talking by telephone from Lincoln, Neb., during a Big Eight Conference briefing session, said if the Heisman Trophy "is to be a character award, they ought to list it as such."

"I certainly don't think anything that has happened to Johnny since then (the larceny conviction) like driving with a suspended driver's license should keep him from winning the trophy."

"Johnny has played excellent football. He continues to amaze me with the things he does on the football field."

Generally, the other Big Eight football coaches agreed with Devaney.

Vince Gibson, the Kansas State coach, was one of them. Asked if a player's off-the-field activities should be a factor, Gibson replied:

"If you're asking me if Johnny Rodgers is the best football player in America, the answer is yes. If he's the best player in America, he should get the Heisman Trophy."

Coaches Chuck Fairbanks of Oklahoma and Don Fambrough of Kansas also indicated the award should be based solely on a player's football ability.

"I'm not qualified to know what Johnny's been doing off the field," Fairbanks said. "I think the award is supposed to go to the best football player."

Fairbanks did not elaborate probably because one of his own players, halfback Greg Pruitt, is regarded as a prime candidate since he finished third in last year's voting.

Swan Lake Kill Stands At 12,002

SUMNER, Mo. — Al Manke, area manager at Swan Lake National Wildlife Refuge, reported Monday that 12,002 Canada geese had been killed by hunters as of Sunday night.

Manke told The Democrat-Capital that officials have not met yet to set a cutoff date for the 1972 Canada goose season in the Swan Lake Zone. However, Manke predicted the season at Swan Lake would probably continue through Friday.

As in 1971, the Swan Lake kill has again been limited to 14,000 Canadians.

South's bidding was very good indeed. Once his partner jumped from two spades to four spades it became evident to South that the grand slam would be there if North held both the king and queen of spades and South's grand slam force was designed to find out if North held those cards.

North's jump to seven spades was right out of the book. He did hold two of the three top honors.

South's play was not up to his bidding. He took one look at dummy and relaxed.

Then he won the heart in his own hand and led a trump to dummy's queen.

East showed out and the relaxing was over. At least the happy relaxing was over. South's grand slam had departed to that bourne of space and time from which there is no returning.

South was unlucky to find all four missing trumps in one hand, but he had made a "nothing" play in trumps and had been well punished for it.

If East held all four trumps there would have been no way to make the grand slam but South could have guarded against all four trumps in the West hand by playing his ace of spades first.

After East showed out South would have been able to lead through West's jack-10 twice; pick up the suit and all the marbles.

Many Reversals By State Supreme Court

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Fifteen reversals were among 50 decisions handed down Monday by the Missouri Supreme Court.

The reversals included an order for a new trial in a $850,000 suit brought by Washington University against the AALCO Wrecking Co. of St. Louis as the result of a 1965 fire.

A St. Louis Circuit Court jury had denied Washington University's claim, but the high court ruled that the attorneys for the university were improperly denied the right to argue that the lack of a night watchman may have caused the fire to spread to university buildings.

AALCO had demolished nine buildings in the old cupples station area. The fire was believed caused by transients.

The high court also ordered these reversals:

—An Iron County Circuit Court decision ordering that the will of Ethel Jackson Robson of Pilot Knob, who left money to a friend, Joseph Eaton of Flat River.

Relatives of Mrs. Robson had charged that Eaton used "undue influence" with the deceased, but the supreme court disagreed.

—An Audrain County Circuit Court decision in favor of the driver in a wrongful death suit by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lovelace, parents of Joyce Marie Lovelace, 9, who was struck and killed while crossing U.S. 54 by a car driven by Ralph J. Reed.

The high court said Judge George P. Adams should have allowed the attorney for the Lovelaces to argue on the basis that the driver did not sound his horn.

—A Jackson County Circuit Court decision denying a claim of $101,000 by Florence P. Williams against Associated Cemetery Management, Inc., and its stocks, owned by her former husband.

Mrs. Williams received $148,000 in alimony from 1957-68. Williams had pledged stock in his cemetery corporations to secure alimony payments.

Mrs. Williams was to receive $500 a week for life or a flat payment of $250,000.

The stock was sold to an employees' profit-sharing trust but because of financial trouble, Mrs. Williams' payments were stopped in 1968.

The Supreme Court ordered a hearing to determine how much alimony remains unpaid under the 1957 alimony agreement, and upheld the Jackson County Circuit Court in denying the Internal Revenue Service contention that the trust must assume tax liens attached before the stock was transferred.

—A Holt County Circuit Court ruling that denied the claim of Gerald C. Terhune and Richard L. Harris for $79,000 because of alleged damage caused by bulldozers in 1970 when a road was rebuilt on their farms.

Harris had testified he had lived on his farm since 1936 and that from 1946 to 1963 the road was impassable and he gave up trying to get the county court to improve the road. He then built a fence, and charged that it was torn down and his land was damaged.

Terhune's wife is the daughter of the Harrises. The Terhunes acquired their land in 1967 and also built a fence, which was also torn down.

The defendants were other land owners who built the road—Frank and Kenneth Caton, Hobart and Byron Black, and Doyle Gore.

The basic issue in the case, the Supreme Court noted, was whether the strip of land was a public road, the high court said the lower court erred in telling the jury that it was a public road.

Under law, a road becomes property if it is not used for a five-year period. This was the question to be settled in the lower court trial, the Supreme Court opinion said. A new trial was ordered.

—A $4,500 judgment awarded to Carl A. and Genevieve Sang-er from the Yellow Cab Co. in a Buchanan County Circuit Court case.

Sanger was struck by a cab while sitting in his parked car. He signed a release and later discovered he had suffered a shoulder injury, the supreme court noted. The ruling held that Sanger was barred from litigation for personal injury by the release he signed.

A Henry County Circuit Court trial in which James H. Sullivan was convicted for stealing cattle. Sullivan was convicted in 1969 and sentenced to 10 years, but the Supreme Court reversed it and another trial ended in a hung jury. Sullivan was tried again in March of 1971 and convicted again.

Sullivan originally was charged in St. Clair County but was granted a change of venue. He filed a motion to disqualify the judge and was denied because of improper affidavits. The high court noted that he had been convicted twice before the same judge and ordered a new trial.

—A dismissal of a suit by Jack E. Sturgeon of Grandview against the mayor, city administrator, an alderman and three policemen of Grandview.

Sturgeon said he was detained in the police station without a warrant and was released "after verbal abuse" without any charges being filed. A new trial on Sturgeon's complaint of false arrest was ordered. The high court upheld a dismissal of his contention of libel since the defendants did not participate in the publication of any libelous material.

Sturgeon sought $400,000. The high court also reversed an order by St. Louis Circuit Court Judge Theodore McMillian, now an appellate judge, that the state must pay a $1,000 attorney's fee for an indigent juvenile, who lost a Supreme Court case against the state.

Tornado Damage

An early morning torando danced through the downtown Port Arthur, Tex., area Monday, leaving an undetermined amount of damage in its wake. A stop sign had little influence on the twister as it swept past to rip this two story building from its foundation. (UPI)

Ann Landers

Mode of Dress Evokes Violence

Dear Ann Landers: A nice young man was arrested recently because he was sitting in the park, minding his own business. It so happens he was wearing women's clothing and somebody started a fight with him and he flattened the guy.

As a fashion historian I can tell you that everything women wear today was once worn by males. Even corsets. During the crusades when men donned suits of armor they had to wear heavy undergarments to protect their bodies against the chafing of the metal. Columbus wore bloomers and long stockings. George Washington wore lace blouses and carried his silk handkerchief in his sleeve. He also wore a ribbon in his hair. Men's high heels are not new. They go back to the French revolution.

Even in the bird kingdom the male's plumage is fancier than the female's. The peacock is the best example. So please, Ann, tell your readers that before they classify a person as peculiar they should stop and think that maybe he's ahead of his time. — A Vote For Fancy Dan

Dear Fancy: O.K. so that guy sitting on the park bench wearing women's clothes is ahead of his time. Until now I was under the impression that he was a little peculiar. Thanks for setting me straight — if you'll pardon the expression.

Dear Ann Landers: Today when I returned from school I asked my mother if I had any mail. She replied, "Yes, there was a letter. Here it is." Then she handed me an envelope which had been opened. I said, "It looks as if you've read it." Her answer was, "I didn't think you'd mind. I couldn't imagine anything in it that you wouldn't want me to know about."

I got ticked off and told her she had no business reading my correspondence and if I had to receive my mail at a friend's house to get privacy I'd do it. She yelled for half an hour, said it would be an insult to her, and grounded me for three days.

I've learned a lot from your column and I know adults pay attention to what you say, too. Is Mom right, or am I? — Monitored

Dear Mon: Any person who is old enough to read doesn't need Momma to open her mail. You have every right to ask your mother to keep her pea-pickin' hands off your letters. If you wish to share a sentence or two, or the entire letter, or none of it, it's up to you. But you are under no obligation to do so.

Dear Ann Landers: I had to say something about the letter signed "Her Husband." His wife was a nymphomaniac, but very sweet and generous and everyone loved her.

Well, I'm no nymphomaniac but after 15 years of marriage to Mr. Wrong, I met Mr. Right. Our affair lasted two years and then my husband found out. My lover and I were in no position to get married so we stopped seeing each other.

The whole time our affair was going on I was sweet and generous — and everybody loved me. I was even able to be nice to my mother-in-law. I had a tremendous amount of energy, could clean up the house in two hours, cook, bake and sing all the while.

When I was deprived of my love I became mean and bitter. Now my housework never gets done and I hate cooking. I'm living for the day when we get back together for good. There's no substitute for a satisfying sex life. — Mean Myrtle

Dear Myrtle: I agree. How about trying to work it out with your husband? It must have been good early in your marriage. At what point did things turn sour? Your solution might be closer than you think.

Got those wedding bell blues over costs ... guests list ... what to wear ... and other details? Ann Landers' completely new "The Bride's Guide" will help. For a copy, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (16 cents postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

'Foundation Week' Topic For Rotary

In observance of Rotary Foundation Week, members of the local Rotary Club received a report of the Foundation's work from the Rev. Denis Craft, a member of the club and of the club's Rotary Foundation committee, at noon Monday at its regular meeting at Bothwell Hotel.

In describing the work, Mr. Craft reported, "The Rotary Foundation was created by Rotary International to provide educational and vocational study programs for qualified young people in countries other than their own. Award recipients are expected to strive for academic excellence while serving as ambassadors of good will through people-to-people contacts in the host country."

Supported by contributions from individual Rotarians and Rotary clubs, the Foundation has enabled more than 5,400 young men and women to pursue studies in a different cultural environment at a cost of more than $14 million since the first Fellowships were awarded in 1947. This year approximately 700 young people will receive Foundation awards which will cost more than $2 million, Mr. Craft said.

The speaker noted that in addition to graduate fellowships and undergraduate scholarships, special programs are available to young craftsmen through technical training awards, and there are awards for teachers of the physically and mentally handicapped and for young business and professional men through the Group Study Exchange.

Mr. Craft urged the club to become a 500% club, since it has been a 400% club for the past several years. A 100% club indicates that every member of the club has contributed $10 to the Rotary Foundation. Since the start of the Foundation program, the Sedalia club has contributed $10 per member on four occasions to reach its present 400% definition.

The speaker was introduced by Ken Schreiner, November program chairman.

By a unanimous vote taken by club president, Charles Hofheins, the membership will support the Salvation Army Christmas bell-ringing program. Dr. C. G. Stauffacher, who recently returned from a tour of Africa, presented club banners from the Salisbury, Rhodesia and Putney, England clubs where he visited.

Guests for the meeting were Herb Brandes, Sedalia, with Floyd Priddy and Bob Eidson, Sedalia, with Dick Lehmer. Also in attendance were Dan Embree and Marlin Dedrick, student guests from Smith-Cotton High School. They were introduced by Alvin Cline.

Campaign Funding Law Will Face Stiff Tests

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new law regulating campaign finances, fresh from its first election-year test, faces sure-fire attempts to roll back its key reform provisions early in the next Congress.

A key target is expected to be a provision banning indirect contributions by government contractors.

The Federal Elections Campaign Act, which limits the amount candidates for Congress and president can spend on advertising and requires full reporting of the sources and uses of campaign funds, was passed by Congress last January.

But during the closing days of Congress, efforts were made to salvage affiliated political funds, a ploy used by big corporations and labor unions to contribute to political campaigns.

These gifts are virtually outlawed under the out-of-court settlement last summer of a lawsuit by Common Cause against one of the funds. Attempts at repealing the section on which the suit was based failed only after Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., threatened a filibuster.

But both sides expressed the certainty that the battle would be resumed in the new year.

Other efforts are expected to try to reduce the number of reports candidates are required to file on their gifts, to eliminate reports in off-years and to strike the requirement that reports include the occupation and business address of each donor.

The new rules brought some howls during their first testing this fall from those who thought they were too restrictive and liable to shut off the sources of campaign financing.

The affiliated political funds brought the loudest complaints.

These funds are built from collections taken by corporations and unions from their employees or members and given out by the company or union to candidates who can help the donor.

Unions and corporations are not allowed to give their own money to political candidates, but by using money collected from employees, they can achieve the same effect. It's not company money, but the recipient knows full well he gets it at the company's grace. The catch is that the law apparently bans even this kind of giving from corporations and unions which have government contracts. This knocks out most big corporations and a number of unions.

The practice had gone unchallenged until Common Cause, a citizens' group, sued TRW Inc., a major government contractor which had what was considered the prototype of affiliated political funds.

TRW dissolved its fund rather than defend it in court, and a number of other corporations followed.

But others resisted, especially after Rep. Sam Devine, R-Ohio, introduced a bill to repeal the ban.

The AFL-CIO, which operates a large funding operation of this type, mounted a massive lobbying effort behind the repealer in an unusual harmony with the business community.

The repealer whistled through the House without committee hearings shortly before adjournment, but Proxmire and others stopped it from coming to the Senate floor.

Intensive Study Over Air Piracy

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aviation Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration has started an intensive investigation of procedures to combat air piracy in the wake of the weekend hijack of a Southern Airways jet.

Most officials aren't talking about why current safeguards failed to thwart the three men who commandeered the DC9 over Alabama Friday night and held 31 passengers and crew members captive for a 3,800-mile, 28-hour nightmare.

But one FAA security specialist said privately, "We are not yet sure as to why the hijackers and their weapons were not detected in the pre-boarding check."

Asst. Transportation Secretary Benjamin O. Davis said Monday night the FAA had told him the three men were selected for special screening as they prepared to board the plane at the Birmingham, Ala., airport.

Southern Airways employees pulled the three from among other passengers because they fit the FAA hijacker profile, Davis said the FAA told him.

The three men were allowed to board after undergoing a special electronic check, he said. There was no immediate explanation why the men's weapons failed to show up in the screening.

Neither the FAA nor the FBI would comment publicly on the antihijack procedures. The Air Line Pilots Association, which usually voices strong protests following a hijacking, declined comment until officials conferred with the DC9 crew.

Any alteration of the antihijack procedures will depend on the outcome of the study, FAA security specialists said Monday.

The hijacking Friday was the 31st this year in the United States and the 10th considered successful.

It is not known precisely what security measures were in effect at Birmingham Friday night when the three men hijacked the jet on a circuitous route that eventually took them to Cuba with an unknown amount of ransom money.

Southern Airways officials have refused to say what sort of metal detection device was in use, and there have been conflicting reports about whether any was in use at all.

Runaway Barge Does Some Damage

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A barge loaded with wheat broke free of its moorings early today, drifted two miles, clipped a bridge abutment and banged into a marina boatdock. A marina spokesman said damage to the docks would not be fully assessed until later in the day.

The spokesman said apparently no boats were damaged. The barge was damaged, and was reported listing.

Art Models, Inc.—Turning Big Profit

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The names of the firm is Art Models, Inc., but everyone connected with it says art has little to do with it—they're in it for the money.

Art Models is located above a postoffice in midtown Kansas City and there nude women pose for photographers or lookers at fees starting at $15 a half hour.

It is a financial boon for its founders, Phil Manuel, a former science teacher, and Victor Damon, a professional photographer. Both are 27-year-old college graduates who opened the studio in July and say it is a purely commercial venture.

Art Models supplies the models, cameras, film and studio rooms with lights. They have the film processed for the customers to pick up. Nothing more is available at the studio.

Who are their clients?

"We've had guys who climb these steps, then have to sit for 10 minutes and rest before they can hold a camera," said Damon, who said the men range in age from 21 to 80.

"We get gobs of lawyers. Architects are big. Lotta well-dressed men."

While they have had inquiries about male models they have had no takers, Manuel said.

The models, primarily young college students or graduates, include social workers, a psychiatric nurse, a mother, a law student, English majors, housewives and a former stripper.

Several commute from Lawrence where they attend the University of Kansas—a trip of about 40 miles one-way. None of their parents know of their jobs, although many live in the Kansas City area.

"A friend of mine works in a shop in Lawrence and she's paid $1.50 an hour," a brunette English major said. "A girl here took home $65 yesterday, including tips."

"I almost took a job for $350 a month, before taxes. This is the easiest way to get money."

Although some of the clients are serious photographers, most are married middle-aged men, wanting someone to talk to—even at $25 an hour.

"They are middle-aged men," said a psychiatric nurse. They aren't our generation. You won't find anyone our age whose hands shake in front of a nude woman."

She said, "Lots of them don't even take pictures. The other day, I had one, he talked for an hour and never took a picture."

The brunette said, "The dirty old men, they're funny. They don't say anything. They just look. Some will leave in five minutes."

There are strict regulations prohibiting customers from touching a model but occasionally one will get out of hand. The girls said they are rarely frightened because Damon and Manuel are always within earshot.

However, alarms are being installed.

"Alarms are rarely necessary," the student nurse said. "But when you need them, you really need them."

Most of the models said they would quit if they could make comparable salaries elsewhere. But with a guaranteed wage and one-third of the fee, few similar opportunities exist.

"It's such an easy job and the money is pretty good," the English major said.

The nursing student said, "Of my girl friends—they are college graduates—one's a cashier, one's a waitress and one's a factory worker making $2.30 an hour."

"I don't feel anyone is exploiting me. I make my own choices."

APME Convention Opening in K.C.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The 39th annual Associated Press Managing Editors convention opens today in Kansas City with a four-day agenda that includes appearances by White House aide John D. Ehrlichman and Missouri Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton.

About 575 registrants from across the United States and Canada were expected at the gathering, which is being held here for the first time.

Ehrlichman, President Nixon's assistant for domestic affairs, is to appear Thursday morning in a discussion entitled, "The President and the Press."

Recall By GM Noted

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. is recalling more than 155,000 vehicles to correct a design problem involving steering.

The recall involves intermediate size cars produced prior to Oct. 9. The cars recalled are the only ones on which major styling changes were made—Chevrolet Chevelle, Buick Century, Oldsmobile Cutlass, Pontiac LeMans, Grand Prix and Grand Am models, as well as Chevrolet El Camino and GMC Sprint trucks.

The steering problem could arise if the car's right front wheel was backed into a curb while turned fully to the left. GM said Monday this could push the steering linkage beyond its normal limit of travel, which would cause a "toe-in."

The "toe-in," if not corrected, could cause a steering loss on the wheel which struck the curb.

However, GM said squealing front tires would alert the driver to the problem before the loss occurred. The problem will be corrected by installing a special bracket, at company cost, to keep the steering linkage from moving too far.

Although the firm has received 58 complaints—including a number from executives driving company-owned cars—a spokesman said the problem has caused no injuries or accidents.

Eagleton is scheduled for a Wednesday morning speech in which he will discuss his nomination for vice president and subsequent departure from the Democratic ticket in the wake of disclosures about his medical history.

The convention opens this afternoon with welcoming remarks from Kansas City Mayor Charles B. Wheeler Jr. and an address by APME President Wendell C. Phillips of the Indianapolis News.

Peter J. Bridge, former Newark News reporter who was jailed recently after refusing to give information regarding a confidential source to a grand jury, is slated to take part in a panel discussion Thursday on the freedom of the press.

Convention visitors will have an opportunity Thursday afternoon to visit the Harry S. Truman Presidential Library in nearby Independence, Mo.

Delegates will elect eight new directors to three-year terms on the APME board of directors and will witness the presentation of APME Freedom of Information citations.

The citation, which recognizes outstanding contributions to "widening the scope of information available to the public," was awarded for the first time at last year's convention, when the New York Times was honored for publication of the Pentagon Papers.

Several panel discussions are also on the schedule, focusing on subjects ranging from China to principles and practices in news reporting to sports reporting.

There will also be a "meet the readers" discussion in which Mrs. George C. Wallace, wife of the Alabama governor, will be a participant.

Governors Seek Westwood Ouster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring the Democratic party needs a "new sense of direction" if it is to win back defectors, five leading Democratic governors have called on party chairman Jean Westwood to resign.

Their call Monday came as both the public and private campaigns moved into high gear to oust the woman chosen by defeated standardbearer George McGovern.

"When you don't win a national election, it's time to reappraise the leadership of the party," said Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel.

Florida Gov. Reubin Askew agreed, saying the party must be reunited and adding, "No personal offense toward Mrs. Westwood at all. I just happen to believe she is not the person who can do that."

Arkansas Gov. Dale Bumpers, chairman of the Democratic Governors Caucus and spokesman for its executive committee which met Monday, said their recommendation will be presented to the full caucus at its Dec. 3 meeting in St. Louis.

Also present at the meeting were Govs. Kenneth Curtis of Maine and Wendell Anderson of Minnesota. Utah Gov. Calvin Rampton, the sixth member of the executive committee, was in Hawaii. Bumpers said.

Among those often mentioned by the dump-Westwood forces for the chairmanship are former party Treasurer Robert Strauss of Texas, New York state Democratic Chairman Joseph Crangle, and Mrs. Westwood's predecessor, Lawrence F. O'Brien.

Mrs. Westwood, a Utah mink rancher turned political organizer, was said by her office to be vacationing with her husband in Florida Monday. She could not be reached for comment.

Last Thursday, when the anti-Westwood move was mostly underground, she told a news conference she intended to remain on the job.

She was picked for the post by McGovern last July after he won his party's presidential nomination.

Many of Mrs. Westwood's opponents feel she is too closely associated with McGovern and party reforms initiated by him to be effective.

While the governors were meeting in a local motel, aides to at least one Democratic senator were calling members of the Democratic National Committee to enlist their support for the anti-Westwood drive.

The DNC meets in Washington Dec. 9 and, if Mrs. Westwood has not resigned by then, a motion to oust her is expected.

Sentence Former Police Officer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Carl Koonce Jr., 44, a former North Kansas City police captain, was sentenced to three years in federal prison by Judge Richard M. Duncan in U.S. District Court.

Koonce was found guilty by a jury Aug. 25 on a charge of giving false testimony before a federal grand jury in connection with his acquisition of a motor boat.

The government claimed the boat was stolen by Koonce and others from a store lot. Koonce testified the boat was given to him.

Duncan recommended the sentence run concurrently with a four-year term Koonce received in a state court on a burglary conviction.

Koonce was acquitted on three counts of perjury related to his denial he was a member of burglary ring that allegedly included several North Kansas City police officers.

Anderson Claims Charges Are True

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Columnist Jack Anderson said he retracted charges that Sen. Thomas Eagleton had been arrested for drunken driving even though they were true in the interest of fairness to the then Democratic vice presidential nominee.

Anderson told an audience at the University of Missouri-Columbia Monday night the charges against the Missourian are true and still could be proved.

He said the news media misrepresented what he said to make it seem Eagleton was convicted of drunken driving, which is not true.

Venereal Disease Fear With Returning Troops

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A team of doctors has reported evidence suggesting that appreciable numbers of troops returning from Vietnam may have "silent" undetected gonorrhea that could have national implications unless the men are found and treated.

Indeed, the doctors told a scientific meeting Monday, it is possible that much of an already noted increasing resistance of gonorrhea germs in the United States to antibiotic wonder drugs has been due to "importation of resistant strains" by Vietnam returnees whose own transmissible infection was overlooked because they showed no symptoms.

The doctors recommended that all Vietnam returnees be screened by a new test they devised for diagnosing "silent" gonorrhea.

The doctors—of the University of Washington, Seattle, and the Army's Madigan General Hospital, Tacoma, Wash.—made their report to the centennial meeting of the American Public Health Association.

defined asymptomatic gonorrhea as a gonorrhea infection which produces no symptoms in the male or female infected but may produce active disease if transmitted sexually.

The team, headed by Dr. H. Hunter Handsfield of the University of Washington, said of the latter findings:

"Traditionally, it has been assumed that gonorrhea produces a symptomatic disease in men and (an) asymptomatic infection in women. This has produced the corollary assumption that the principal reservoir of gonococcal infection in the community is the silent female carrier. Consequently, a great deal of effort is expended toward tracing these asymptomatic women."

The doctors reported finding, by a special diagnostic test, a "high prevalence" of asymptomatic gonorrhea among a small group of civilian men known to have been exposed to infected women.

They also reported testing 2,000 Vietnam returnees who were undergoing routine physical examinations at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and at Madigan Hospital immediately prior to discharge from the Army.

And they said that of those who had had sexual exposure during their years in Vietnam—a number they did not specify—2½ per cent were found to be infected but showing no symptoms.

Declaring the germs uncovered from the men were relatively resistant to antibiotics, the doctors said: Even though no more than 7,000 men per year carrying gonococci would have returned from Vietnam during peak involvement the rapid spread of these organisms through the community would have been facilitated by their resistance to the antibiotic regimens (lower dose schedules) in use prior to this year...."

REMINGTON LEKTROBLADE SHAVER

The first shaver designed not to get dull! Most electric shavers shave fairly close to begin with—but with time, their blades get duller and duller. And the close shave takes longer and longer to get. The new Remington with the slant head design and Hideaway trimmer is the first shaver designed not to get dull. Because it's designed around disposable blades.
